

Dear Vicki

Well I Got your letter and I really don't know what to say to it. I know you and I don't believe that you are splitting for the reasons you say. But who am I to judge you for what ever reason. All I can say to you is I wish you the best in what you do and that I don't have any bad feelings towards you I just wish things could have ended differently but this is the way you wanted to play your game. I just wish that you did not come back last March because I told you how things were so you knew what you were getting into when you said that you were with me all the way but now you just say good bye when I need you most I don't understand you at all at times. What can I say to you to change your way of thinking I had only you to look to for help and now I have no one nothing I hope you thought what you were doing to me. I need some money $100 could you find it in your big heart to send me it in my name so that I could buy some things for the summer or do I have to say I love you or do you know that already by yes people make your right out who ever is their. you say you talk me straight when you have something to say you are a no person you always say no to me bye for now I hope that you know what your doing. if you can send me that money thanks if you can't thanks anyways if you have a reason don't give messages to Carol send a letter take care Thanks for the good times and yes I will love you always and will miss you very much
